

Geoclense

Total Solution Noxious Energy Harmonizer and Negative Ion Generator for Buildings
The Geoclense is a Solid State Negative Ion Generator. This device balances Positive Ions, otherwise known as a noxious unhealthy energy. These Positive Ions are naturally created when there is current passing through the electrical circuit and are referred to as Electromagnetic Radiation, or Dirty Electricity.

The Geoclense harmonizes all noxious energies emitted from appliances connected to the harmonized circuit as well as those which do not operate from circuits but still produce Positive Ions.

EMR is a major contributor to the deterioration of the natural earth magnetic grids such as Ley Lines, Curry, Hartman, Benker and 400mtr Grids which causes Geopathic Stress. This noxious energy can be found within the home and can also be completely harmonized with the Geoclense installed.

Geopathic Stress within a building put the body's nervous system and organs under stress which then leads to unhealthy cell growth and a compromised immune system. Oxygen levels within a building are also depleted with these noxious energies.

With the Geoclense operating, the stress put on the nervous system by the Positive Ion component of EMR and other sources of noxious energy are removed, and oxygen/photon levels are corrected. Within an instant the space feels lighter and clearer and the well-being of the people restored creating a healthier and happier home or office environment.

To activate the Geoclense simply plug into any power point and turn the switch on. Geoclense does not use any power. It is completely portable from place to place, and has been designed to be compact in size.

Geoclense has been programmed to harmonize an entire building including the garden and all other outside areas to the property boundary.

Geoclense is Australian designed, developed and manufactured.
